POSITIONS IN: BRISBANE • PERTH
ADELAIDE • DARWIN

Women and men are encouraged to apply

Telecom Australia is a Commonwealth Statutory Authority responsible for providing vital communication services throughout Australia including telephone, television, radio, teleprinter, computer data & facsimile transmission.

We have several positions available and we are eager to attract Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander applicants. Successful applicants will complete a 4 year apprenticeship period which includes formal course work and on-the-job training.

There is no age limit. You will need to be interested in pursuing a challenging and rewarding career and have strong interest in technical work or electronics.

QUALIFICATIONS: It is essential you have a pass in Maths and a Science subject at Year 10 level (as a minimum requirement). A strong desire to succeed, ability to study and a willingness to spend significant portions of your 1st year in formal classroom work at one of our training schools located in the above capital cities is required. You must be of Aboriginal/Torres Strait Islander descent.

WHERE: Most positions are in the metropolitan areas but some country vacancies are available.
